The Federal Ministry of Education and Research (BMBF) is forecasting a kin

The Federal Ministry of Education and Research (BMBF) is forecasting a kind of mass Alzheimer's scenario in Germany. By the year 2050, at least three million people are expected to be affected by dementia, Parkinson's, and many other...

The Federal Ministry of Education and Research (BMBF) is forecasting a kind of mass Alzheimer's scenario in Germany. By the year 2050, at least three million people are expected to be affected by dementia, Parkinson's, and many other neurological diseases. The website text of the top federal authority speaks of illness, decay, and death, mentions no protective measures, yet billions are being invested in "research".

>We have found physicians and scientists who clearly demonstrate that aluminum is far more harmful to nerve and brain cells than previously assumed.

>We have found studies that show that far more aluminum is present in our groundwater today than it was in the past.

Without any need to worry about the existence or origin of chemtrails, we provide in the following article study results that plausibly explain the increase of aluminum in our waters and name effective measures for how you can protect and even rehabilitate your brain, nerves, and your memory.

It's good.
to be truu.