Similarly, in the nocebo effect, negative expectations or fears of the patient lead to actual negative symptoms or a worsening of health status.

Nocebo effects are observed both in clinical studies and in medical practice "officially". When one combines the findings from Dr. Emoto's water research and from placebo/nocebo research, a clear picture emerges for the unbiased observer: The power of consciousness, or rather the individual's decision, stands above everything!

According to Prof. Warnke and other quantum scientists, quantum researchers in their search for "the smallest particle" unintentionally create particles, that is matter, again and again through their mere presence. Part VII

to be truu.
