Part VI PART VII

Conclusion: Water can be changed particularly well through your emotions. - In various posts on this channel it becomes clear: the purer and cleaner the water, the more it is freed from disruptive factors. You can ...

Conclusion: Water can be changed particularly well through your emotions. - In various posts on this channel it becomes clear: the purer and cleaner the water, the more it is freed from disruptive factors. You can admire one glass of cooked rice and address another glass of rice with negative emotions, in order to demonstrate to yourself your mental influence on the decay process in the two glasses after 1-2 weeks.

If you have sufficient self-control, you can also the next time when your mother-in-law or your snappy neighbor get going again, simply admire them. And if you genuinely admire them, you will observe how they can no longer maintain their bad mood in front of you.

It is said: "The eyes are the mirror of the soul". Eyes are also the organ with the highest water content and consist of 99% water.

It's good.
to be truu.